

Focus on decisions, not paperwork

The last step of the credentialing process—your credentialing committee—has more direct impact on quality care and patient outcomes than any other step when it decides whether or not to allow providers to become part of your network.

Yet credentialing committees are plagued by administrative burdens that consume valuable time and distract your team from the critical privilege decisions they have to make. With androsCommittee, you can leave the legwork behind and instead focus on making the decisions that are best for your provider network and, most importantly, your members.

Smarter decisions through technology androsCommittee* classifies providers into two distinct levels based on the results of their credentialing process and your customizable requirements. That way the committee can give each group of providers the attention they need.

Level one

Contains clean provider files with no flagged issues that can be quickly approved in bulk and given full privileges in your network.

Level two

Providers are flagged for sanctions (OIG, SAM, state sanctions) or NPDB alerts (suspensions, revocation of privileges, exclusion from federal or state programs, malpractice) and merit scrutiny before reaching a decision.

andros prepares files on flagged providers, so the decision-makers on your committee have all the information at their fingertips.

Turbocharging operational efficiency

The andros operations team handles the logistics and administration of credentialing committee meetings to the extent you require. At a minimum, we will prepare pre-meeting reporting and summaries on the candidates in each of your defined levels and schedule the meeting with your committee.

Depending on your needs, we can establish your committee and leveling criteria, moderate the meeting and take minutes, and even send decision notifications to providers. You retain the authority to make approve/deny decisions. Beyond that, you can manage as many or as few of the steps along the way as you like. It's all up to you.
